

Sara Sanseverinati: Bologna University, exchange MA student

I joined the Faculty of Economic Sciences at HSE in September 2014.

The Higher School of Economics represents one of the top universities in Russia in the heart of the stunning city of Moscow, which provides an international hub and a liberal environment that brings newcomers closer to the Russian culture and language. The dormitories are comfortable, cozy and strategically located, and the canteens are a tasty and good way to experience the Russian cuisine.

The Faculty of Economic Sciences itself provides a high quality of teaching, competencies to successfully perform in my future career and a fruitful and competitive environment leading to a solid background for modern economic analysis.

Faculty members support and encourage students to explore scientific literature on their own, bypassing textbooks and going right to scientific and research-based publications.